Kupferberg Center for the Arts and Godwin-Ternbach Museum at Queens College welcome you to an in-person conversation with author Craig Taylor. This free event will take place in Chorus Room 264, a 200-seat theater in the Aaron Copland School of Music.

Taylor's latest book, New Yorkers: A City and its People in Our Time, is coming out in the softcover edition. Seventy-five people have been interviewed for the book published in 2021 which brings together a symphony of voices of contemporary New York City. Best-selling author Craig Taylor has been hailed as a "peerless journalist and a beautiful craftsman" (David Rakoff), acclaimed for the way he "fuses the mundane truth of conversation with the higher truth of art" (Michael Faber). New Yorkers is a companion piece to his earlier book, Londoners: The Days and Nights of London Now—As Told by Those Who Love It, Hate It, Live It, Left It, and Long for It, 2012. Taylor received the Non-Fiction Prize for New Yorkers from the Brooklyn Public Library in 2021. For more information on Craig Taylor's New Yorkers, please click HERE.

The event will provide a conversation about the book, the city, the process of writing documentary literature which will prove appealing for anyone interested in non-fiction or writing about cities. Joining Craig Taylor will be Daniel Bauso and Louise Weinberg (Co-Director, Director of Exhibitions/Collections, and Curator of the Godwin-Ternbach Museum), two of the interviewees in New Yorkers. The conversation will be moderated by Kara Murphy Schlichting, (Associate Professor of History at Queens College).
